ABSTRACT

This article describes the investments in entrepreneurship, their role in the country's economy, the opportunities created, the stages of development of investment policy, the existing problems. The ongoing economic reforms in our country are directly related to the institutional changes taking place in all sectors of the economy. 2019 has been declared the Year of Active Investment and Social Development in our country. In this regard, the State Program was adopted, which created ample opportunities for the development of small business and private entrepreneurship.
