

ACADEMICIA
An International
 Multidisciplinary
 Research Journal
 (Double Blind Refereed & Peer Reviewed Journal)

DOI: 10.5958/2249-7137.2021.00616.9

LINGVOCULTURAL ASPECTS OF BORROWINGS FROM ENGLISH TO UZBEK LANGUAGE

Mukhammadiyeva Ayubovna Nargiza*; Nosirova Muborak Khaitbayevna*

*English Teacher,
 Tashkent State University of Oriental Studies,
 UZBEKISTAN

ABSTRACT

The present article is dedicated to the lingvo cultural analysis of borrowed words from English to Uzbek, which are frequently being used in the letters" daily life. It is understood that there is a system of unique signs or features render languages distinct from each other. Uzbek and English languages are no exceptions. We recognize variations in grammatical form under systemic discordance. Such thematic groups are based on hierarchical (hierarchical) relationships in the language. Creation of relations between nations and supremacy English as a market language triggers a great influx of words into Uzbek. Words, thereby enriching the word-stock It was untouched by the impact that English had on our language in all facts of life, educational, political and hardly any walk of life. In the following article a diverse range of types will be analyzed according to various spheres.

KEYWORDS: Borrowed Words, Loan Word, Translation, Adopting, Thematic Groups, Fixed Expressions, Native Words.

REFERENCES

1. A.M. Xodjayev. "Methods of teaching foreign languages". - Tashkent. - 148 p.
2. Kornilov O.A. Language pictures of the world as derivatives of national mentality. - Moscow, 1999. -- 349 p.
3. Sh.Safarov. Semantics. - Toshkent: Uzbekistonmilliy encyclopedias, 2013.-270 p.
4. Serebrennikov B.A. The role of the human factor in language. Language and thinking. - Moscow: Nauka, 1988. -- 242 p.
5. Philipp Durkin. A History of Loan-words in English, Oup Oxford, 2014-History. – 491 p.

6. S. Kremmer. Words in English public website, Rice University. - 32 p.
7. Vinogradov, V.V. (1953) On some issues of Russian historical lexicology. (pp.185-210).