ABSTRACT

The article gives an examination the contribution of the outstanding commander and composer Zakhiriddin Muhammad Babur, founder of the Mughal dynasty, poet, historian, statesman, to the cultural development of many peoples. It should be noted that Bobur's activities within the field of music have not been sufficiently studied. It is safe to say that investigate at the level of scientific research is one of the foremost pressing issues today. There were other stories told about Sheikh Nai. With regard to melodies, he was so well versed that when he listened a tune, he said: "Such and such a melody, composed by such and such, is in tune with this".
