ABSTRACT

Heroic epics are an integral part of the rich folklore world of many peoples, including the Uzbek, English and Russian people. A striking example of the heroic epic of Uzbek folklore is "Go'r o'g'li", which is a reflection of heroism, patriotism, and friendship among the peoples. The main character of the epic "Go'r O'g'li" is the ideal of the people. According to mythical ideas, he was the son of the sun, which also includes the myth of the solar system and the resurrected nature, and proves the mythological and animistic views that existed before the Islamic period.
