INTRODUCTION

Today, about 50% of the population of our country are women. Given their fruitful work in all spheres, the upbringing of children, their great contribution to family life, their place in society, their valuable contribution to the success of independent Uzbekistan cannot be measured and evaluated by anything. Realization of dreams and aspirations of women of Uzbekistan - In his speech at the solemn event dedicated to the International Women's Day on March 7, 2018, President of Uzbekistan Sh. Mirziyoyev identified this task as a priority for the state and society. This was a good reason to look back and take a look at the path that has been traversed. What has been done in the country in recent years to ensure decent quality of life and conditions for women, what has not been achieved? Ensuring the rights and interests of women in Uzbekistan, increasing their economic, social and political activity has been identified as an important direction of public policy. Today, about 1,400 of our sisters hold senior positions in the system of state and public organizations.

The share of women is more than 82% in healthcare and social services, 72% in science, education, culture and arts, more than 45% in agriculture and 38% in industry. In 2018, the Presidential Decree "On measures to radically improve the activities in the field of support of women and strengthening the institution of the family" was adopted. Ensuring equal rights and opportunities for women and men in the social, economic and political spheres is one of the key factors in maintaining peace and economic stability in our society. With this in mind, the draft "Strategy for Gender Equality in the Republic of Uzbekistan in 2020-2030" is being prepared and agreed with governmental and non-governmental organizations. It is noteworthy that all the directions in this strategy are developed in accordance with the UN Sustainable Development Goals until 2030. Equality between men and women plays an important role in the well-being of the people, social peace and economic stability. In this regard, the issue of employment of women and the expansion of opportunities for them to fully realize their aspirations and abilities is in the constant focus of our state. Today, the flexibility, kindness, ingenuity and intelligence of women in our society are increasing because of the number of women ministers and deputy ministers, as well as women governors. In particular, in order to increase the participation of women in public administration, a staff reserve of more than 6,000 active women has been formed. At present, systematic training courses are being organized to prepare them for various leadership positions. 514 doctors of sciences, 6 academicians, 15 heroes of Uzbekistan, 16 women leaders of the Ministry of Internal Affairs, 6 women governors and 1 ambassador have been appointed out of women. In addition, about 1,500 women hold leadership positions at various levels. According to the results of elections to the Oliy Majlis and Local Councils in December 2019, the number of women deputies accounted for 32% of the total number of deputies in the Legislative Chamber, women senators for 25% of Senate members, and women in Local Councils for 25.64 out of 6 parliaments.

The society should conduct a comprehensive analysis of the problems of women and measure the level of development. Today, government agencies need to be more effective in helping women in need, combating domestic violence, and supporting women entrepreneurs. As the number of female leaders' increases, society becomes more compassionate, humane, and enlightened. Because when a woman is empowered, she tries to support most of the social sector, directing the treasury money to building more schools and hospitals.

In particular, our holy religion, Islam, addresses everyone equally and treats men and women equally. No one is superior to another in rights. Also, Islamic law generally aims to achieve a specific goal, which is called "protection." Protection comes in different forms, on different fronts. In particular, the dignity of women and everything that concerns them is protected on the basis of Islam. For this reason, the rights and subtle definitions of women in the Qur'an and the Sunnah of the Prophet are given special attention, and are explained with justice, grace and kindness. With this in mind, there are verses and hadiths that envisage the life of a woman as a daughter, wife and mother, and her respect and protection at all stages of her life.

According to the Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On measures to radically improve the activities in the field of support of women and strengthening the institution of the family", now in our country to increase social and political activity of women, ensuring unconditional observance of their rights and legitimate interests. Extensive work is being done to support children in every possible way, to create conditions for them to realize their abilities and potential in various fields, as well as to strengthen the institution of the Family. The updated structures of the Women's Committee of Uzbekistan and its territorial divisions have been approved.

Under the regional branches of the Women's Committee, public associations "Women Lawyers", "Science and Women", "Creative Women", "Women Entrepreneurs", "Women and Health", "Honorary Women" were established. "Woman of the Year", "Exemplary Family" competitions are being held. A club of non-governmental non-profit organizations has been established under the Women's Committee of Uzbekistan. The main goal of the club is to create a platform for cooperation of non-governmental organizations working in the field of women, to promote positive experiences, as well as to coordinate social services, increase the role of NGOs on issues facing women and children. Currently, there are 9,700 non-governmental non-profit organizations in Uzbekistan, 378 of which work in the field of women. In order to conduct fundamental, applied and innovative research in the field of family values and traditions, a separate scientific-practical research center "Family" under the Cabinet of Ministers and its regional branches were established on the basis of the Republican Family Research Center. Reproductive health and democratic development of the family, setting the criteria for a modern exemplary family, the conceptual idea of "Healthy family - healthy society" and the constitutional principle "Family under the protection of society and the state" were among the main tasks of the Family Center. Indeed, our society, when the time comes, is harsh and ruthless towards women. There are unwritten but strictly enforced rules in this regard. In order for a woman to find her place in this or that front, she must be married and have children. The family, so to speak, gives it legitimacy. It is rare for a woman who is not married and has no children to be recognized as a qualified professional, to achieve a high rank, and to gain the affection of the people. Whether we like it or not, Eastern society is so structured and we have to reckon with this order. Involving women in higher education will alleviate the social burden of the state. Because an educated woman does not look at social payments, she works independently for the growth of her children.

As society develops, the country becomes richer, and girls are given a decent education, discrimination against girls in the family and women in society will end. Maybe we should also study the working conditions of today's leaders? An irregular working day, heavy loads, mental stress ... Anyway, a man will have a wife at home who will keep a bowl of soup and wash her children. And a female leader has to pull a double wagon ... Also, today, government agencies seem to be working more effectively to help women in need, to combat domestic violence, to support women entrepreneurs. There are not many shelters in our country that help women in need. Support facilities opened in Bukhara and Samarkand in the 1990s are still operating, but they are few. The first condition of shelters is anonymity. That is, from the point of view of security, these institutions should not disclose their location to anyone, and at the same time, the identity of the applicants should be kept confidential. If the state organizes shelters, it becomes impossible to maintain anonymity.

Why are we so passionate about women? Because behind a woman is the fate of dozens of people, her children, her husband, her parents. That is why in developed countries, social workers study and support the problem of not only one woman, but the whole family.

This means that if the society is enlightened, if the personal qualities of the citizens are valued, if the state encourages the growth of the people, if human capital is formed, if the quality of education improves, women can easily hold high leadership positions in such a country.

In fact, in an enlightened society, who governs the state is not so important. Let me explain my point with a real-life example: imagine two roads that are regulated by a certain sign, indicator, and traffic light, and no sign is set, no rules are enforced. On the first road, drivers move without interfering with each other. No matter how much the second type of road is widened, car accidents continue to occur unless the rules are set and followed.
