

BUDAPEST COPY OF ALISHER NAVOY'S "MUKAHAMATU-L-LUG'ATAYN"

Alimukhamedov R.A*; Qudratova M

*Associate Professor, Doctor of Philology,
Head of the department of Classical Philology and Literary Source Studies,
Tashkent State University of Oriental Studies,
Tashkent, UZBEKISTAN
Email id: rixsitilla@gmail.com

3rd grade student,
Field of textual and Literary Source Studies,
Tashkent State University of Oriental Studies,
Tashkent, UZBEKISTAN

DOI: 10.5958/2249-7137.2022.00752.2

ABSTRACT

Alisher Navoi made a great contribution to the field of linguistics with his work "Muhokamatu-l-lughatayn". In this work, Navoi proves the richness of the Turkic language by comparing languages belonging to two language families. Through various examples, in particular, it intertwines at the phonetic and lexical levels. It reveals 100 verbs that have no alternative in Persian, the male and female animals that are called by one word in Persian, and the subtleties of the image of the beloved through beautiful examples. This article discusses the Budapest copy of this work and its features.

KEYWORDS: Alisher Navoi, Risala, "Muhokamatu-L-Lug'atayn", Comparative Linguistics, Budapest.

REFERENCES:

1. Alisher Navoiy. Mesonulus Avson. MAT. – T.: 2000.
 2. Kasimjon Sadikov. "Muhokamatu-l-lughatayn". – Academic edition, 2017. – Page 4.
 3. Alisher Navoi "Muhokamatu-l-lughatayn". Under the analysis, translation and interpretation of Q. Sodikov. - T.: Akademnashr, 2017. - p. 56.
 4. <https://saviya.uz/ijod/adabiyotshunoslik/unutilayozgan-topilma-yoxud-muhokamat-ul-lugatayn-ning-haydarobod-nusxasi/>
 5. Q. Sadikov. Learning by reading "Muhokamatu-l-lughatayn". 5220700 – a study guide for students studying Eastern classical philology. -Tashkent, 2011. - 96 p.; Alisher Navoi. Muhokamatu-l-lughatayn. Under the analysis, translation and interpretation of Kasimjon Sodikov. - Tashkent: "Akademnashr", 2017. - 128 p.
 6. Alisher Navoi. "Muhokamatu-l-lughatayn". Scientific and critical text. / Compiled and prepared for publication by Yu. Tursunov. - Tashkent, UzRFA "Fan" publishing house. 2021.- 160 p.
-