

SOCIETY OF THE CONCEPT OF "MODERN PERSON" PHILOSOPHICAL SIGNIFICANCE

Olimova Mukhtasar Rayimovna*

*Senior Lecturer,

Faculty of Socio-Economics, Gulistan State University,

UZBEKISTAN

Email id: olimova_umail.uz

DOI: 10.5958/2249-7137.2022.00055.6

ABSTRACT

In this article, the socio-philosophical essence of the concept of modern personality. The specific features of the socio-philosophical formation and the influence of the macro and micro environment in which it lives are given. Modernism is a very multifaceted philosophical and aesthetic phenomenon, which goes from the way of rejecting the classical approach, striving for originality in the interpretation and description of the phenomena of the world and man, the various situations in them. Social communities are equipped with scientific methods of analyzing interpersonal relationships, thereby helping to solve the most important problem of forming a new person.

KEYWORDS: Legitimacy, Socio-Philosophical, Macro And Micro, Social Group, Interpersonal Relations.

REFERENCES

1. Tulenov J. G'afurov Z. Independence and national revival. Tashkent: Uzbekistan; 1996.
2. Erkaev A. Criteria of freedom of thought. Tafakkur; 2006. pp. 1, 12-19
3. Qahhorov M, Akbarov K. Formation of a free-thinking independent thinker. Philosophy and Law magazine, 2006;(3):41-44.
4. Qahhorov MA, Mazaitov J. Education of healthy thinking. Zukko zamondosh, newspaper, 2008;(1).