ABSTRACT

The role of case fillers in speech is complex. They are also found in the case-complementary contradiction of the case system itself, the essence of which is clarified in certain speech conditions. The determinant, by its very nature, acts in a relatively weak connection with the dominant component and, in its function, as an extension of the entire sentence. The article discusses how complement and case, as well as the no determinant function, refine valency.

KEYWORDS: Sentence Propagation, Valence, Word Distribution, Determinant, The No Determinant, Supplement Status, Circumstance Status, Highlighting Of Minor Members Of The Sentence.
