

PROBLEMS OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS IN EDUCATION

Abdurakhmonov Dildora Alijon kizi*

*Teacher,

Department of "Mathematics and Information Technologies in Education",

Tashkent State Pedagogical University named after Nizami,

UZBEKISTAN

Email id: dildora_abdurahmonova@mail.ru

DOI: 10.5958/2249-7137.2022.00390.1

ABSTRACT

This article is devoted to the analysis of the specifics of professional and pedagogical activity, as well as directions, types and forms of advanced training for teachers of vocational training; in general, the importance of continuous education in the professional and pedagogical sphere is determined.

KEYWORDS: Innovative Way's Technologies, Membrane Materials, Production Of Clothing, "Smart Textiles", Special Clothing.

REFERENCES:

1. Otajonov J. The importance of pedagogical reflection in the development of professional skills of teachers. Modern innovative education: the principles of practical education in the organization of the activities of psychologists: Resp. material. Fergana, November 6, 2019. pp. 256-257.
2. Karmanova ZhA, Ivanova VV. Development of Professional Skills of A Teacher. International Journal of Applied and Fundamental Research. 2016;9(2):295-297.
3. Knowles M, Holton E, Swanson R. The Adult Learner: The definitive classic in adult education and human resource development. London, New York, etc.: ELSEVIER Butterworth Heinemann, 2005. 378p. (in Eng.)
4. Zvonnikov VI, Chelyshkova MB. Quality control of training during certification: a competency-based approach. Moscow: Universitetskaya kniga, 2009. 272p.
5. Australia's qualifications system and lifelong learning/OECD/ April 2003. Available at: <http://www.oecd.org/dataoecd/13/45/34327618.pdf>